Continue

When you're locked out and can't access your phone, you'd need to learn tips on how to unlock the Android phone pattern lock without a factory reset. If you use multiples handsets, keeping tabs on the pattern lock of each device can be difficult. Apart from that, users also commonly forget their phone's pattern or PIN when they don't use it regularly. Whatever the cause is, you can unlock your device without any data loss. Let's explore tips on how to unlock the Android phone pattern locks without a factory reset. How Do I Unlock My Android After Too Many Pattern Attempts Without a Factory Reset? There are various methods you can use to remove locks on Android without experiencing any loss of data. In this section, we look at two of these procedures. How to Unlock Android Phone Pattern Lock without Factory Reset with Gmail This method involves using your smartphone's Forgot pattern feature to regain access to the device. But you need a Google account for the procedure to work, and the option only becomes available after trying your device's unlock pattern five times without success. On the sixth attempt, you'll be notified to try the pattern after 30 seconds, and you'll see forgot pattern on the bottom of your screen Tap on it Enter your Gmail account linked to the phone Tap on Next Your handset is unlocked immediately. How to Unlock Android Phone Pattern Lock Without Factory Reset With Device Manager Also known as Find My Mobile, or ADM, the Android Device Manager can be used as an Android lock screen removal, and the best part is that it works remotely. You can proceed as follows : Sign to Find My Device with your Gmail details on the Android Device Manager website. Select the phone linked to the Gmail account The following options show up: Lock it, ring it, or erase it Pick your choice to continue A new pop-up window opens, from where you can enter a new lock screen password Confirm the password and enter a recovery phone number or message in a situation the handset gets stolen Confirm the setting and save If you don't have a Gmail account linked to your smartphone, you can't use these two methods to unlock the Android pattern lock. You'd have to bypass your phone's pattern lock or use other methods to unlock your Android phone. How to Bypass Pattern Lock This procedure, which requires rebooting in Safe Mode, will give you access to a locked Android phone by bypassing its pattern lock. Press and hold your handset's Power button till the Power menu appears on the screen Press Power off on the screen and hold it You'll get a message that asks you to confirm you want to reboot your phone in safe mode Tap on OK to confirm While the device is in Safe Mode, the third-party lock screen app will be disabled You can reinstall the app in Settings (installation directory) How Do I Unlock My Phone if I Forgot the Pattern Without Losing Data? We'll consider two methods to unlock Android phone patterns in this section: How to Unlock Android Phone Pattern Lock Without Factory Reset With Smart Lock Smartphones running Android 5 or higher OS version come with Smart Lock, which unlocks your device automatically once you enter a trusted place (already preset) with GPS enabled. In Smart Lock settings, you'll come across three features — Trusted place, Trusted device, and Trusted face. For instance, if you seek to unlock your handset's pattern lock using a trusted place setup, any time you enter this trusted place (which can be your office or workplace), the smartphone will be unlocked automatically once GPS is enabled. We recommend enabling this setting beforehand because this is the simplest method to remove a phone's lock without a factory reset when you forgot your device's password. How to set up Smart Lock: Go to Settings from your app drawer Tap on Security Press Smart Lock Enter your PIN or draw your pattern Set a trusted device, trusted device, and trusted face How to Unlock Android Phone Pattern Lock Without Factory Reset With Backup Pin This is another simple procedure to remove a pattern lock without a Factory reset, which can cause data loss. If you can't unlock your mobile device with the methods explained above, you can use a backup PIN. The backup PIN is that security PIN you created as an alternative lock screen password when you enabled pattern lock on your smartphone. Here are the steps to use the PIN to regain access to your handset when you're locked out: After entering your Android phone pattern lock six times, you'll be notified that you're only allowed to try again after 30 seconds Then, you'll see the Backup PIN option Tap on it Enter your backup PIN Press OK Your phone will be unlocked immediately. There are other methods to unlock your Android phone apart from the ones outlined above. However, some of them require the use of a USB cable to connect your Android phone to a PC and USB debugging, where you'll use the Android developer feature.
